A Unique Comprehensive Solution for Secure Travel: New Group Drives Innovation and Safety

As of May 2025, the FEA Group – including renowned brands such as Freys Hyrverk and Stockholm LimousineService – merges with Inclusion Services International to form a new, powerful entity under the name FEA Security Services Group. The companies have enjoyed a long-standing and close partnership, which now culminates in this strategic consolidation.

The core mission of FEA Security Services Group is to provide high-quality travel logistics, security-classified transportation, and transport services for individuals with special needs and requirements. Travel logistics in this context encompasses everything from overarching travel planning, transport and hotel bookings, risk assessments, and on-site security arrangements to handling any additional needs the traveler may have.

Rising Uncertainty Requires Innovative Solutions

Operating in a rapidly evolving industry with increasing demands for risk awareness and threat management, the newly strengthened FEA Security Services Group is positioned to provide clients with the security and peace of mind they expect and deserve.

“Customer needs have evolved, and we see a growing demand for integrated travel planning combined with heightened security. Through this merger, we can now offer a comprehensive travel logistics solution that no other market player can match,” say Joachim Källsholm and Anders Larsson, who led the merger on behalf of the owners following a thorough market analysis.

A Stronger Player on the International Stage

This merger positions the group as the largest operator in Sweden and the Nordic region within its sector, while also enhancing its global reach. Anders Larsson, representing Inclusion Services International, comments:

“We see significant benefits in combining our resources and expertise. Many of our clients expect us to operate at international destinations, and this merger strengthens our ability to meet those expectations. We can now offer a broader range of services and increased capacity.”

A Unique Market Position in Sweden

The merger creates a group with no equivalent on the Swedish market, enabling the delivery of new types of transport and security-related solutions that were previously unavailable. Joakim Raninen will assume the role of CEO for FEA Security Services Group and expresses a confident outlook:

“This merger gives us a stronger financial foundation, enabling us to invest in and further develop the company. All with the aim of meeting the future demands of the transport and security sectors—both through our own operations and strategic international partnerships.”

About FEA Security Services Group

FEA Security Services Group will be a leading provider of secure travel logistics, event mobility, and specialized transportation—with a strong emphasis on quality, security and safety. The company combines the expertise of two prominent players in the industry and offers comprehensive solutions that cover all aspects of secure travel and planning.
